

Azingo Application Suite

Benefits

- Complete set of mobile applications
- Meets demanding Tier 1 operator requirements
- Supports both full-touch and keypad user interfaces
- Compatible with most Linux-based mobile phone platforms

Azingo's Mobile Application Suite is a comprehensive set of mobile applications for both touch-based and keypad-based mobile phones powered by Linux-based software platforms.

Azingo's Mobile Application Suite supports a broad range of rich mobile applications including telephony, SMS/MMS, email, media players, calendar, contacts, and much more.

Azingo's Mobile Application Suite includes a well-architected application framework that allows handset manufacturers to rapidly, reliably, and economically deliver advanced mobile products that meet the requirements of Tier 1 mobile operators.

Azingo Mobile's sophisticated mobile applications are pre-integrated and ready to pass the industry's most demanding tests, avoiding expensive software testing and integration bottlenecks.

Azingo's Mobile Application Suite is accompanied by the Azingo Developer Studio, an Eclipse-based SDK that delivers the Azingo Mobile Phone Emulator and a full complement of tools to enable developers to productively develop and test mobile applications on a PC as well as the target device.

The Azingo Application Suite includes the following applications:

Azingo Mobile Productivity applications deliver complete Personal Information Management (PIM) applications, including contacts, calendar, tasks, notes, calculator, and alarm.

Azingo Mobile Communications applications provide telephony, call log, SMS, MMS, and email applications.

Azingo Mobile System applications include the idle screen, main menu, panel, search, phone settings, and a file browser.
